

What is proHNS?

proHNS LLC is a versatile consulting firm dedicated to helping clients and communities reach their development goals. We provide project management, civil engineering, design, construction inspection, grant writing, contract administration, and permitting support services to private developers, tribal organizations, and governmental agencies across Alaska and the Lower 48. Founded in 2015, we are headquartered in Juneau, AK, with satellite locations in Haines, AK, and Sedro-Wooley, WA.

How can proHNS help with my grant writing and planning needs?

Our team of experts is ready to support you at any stage of the grant writing and planning process by:

Developing grant funding strategies for your priority projects and programs.

Set yourself up for success by establishing a grant funding plan. Our team can identify funding opportunities for your projects that will offer the highest chance of success based on relative competitiveness, set asides, evaluation criteria, and other factors. Smaller projects might involve applying to one grant program. More ambitious projects usually entail a multi-year plan to pursue opportunities from several sources, leveraging these off one another to score higher on applications or access matching funds. Our team is constantly tracking funding options and knows how to align the puzzle pieces to your greatest advantage.

Preparing grant content components or complete applications.

Some grant applications are relatively simple, while others require detailed budget spreadsheets, conceptual design plans, and high-level support studies. Whether you need assistance with specific application components or you're looking for someone to draft, assemble, and submit the complete package, we can provide the desired level of support.

Providing post-award grant management guidance and training.

Post-award reporting requirements vary depending on the funding agency, the specific program, and the terms outlined in the grant agreement. Our team can work with you to navigate these requirements and deadlines to ensure compliance for the project lifecycle and full funding participation by the grantor.

Why work with proHNS?

We have secured millions of dollars in competitive grants for our clients, including:
